

Dr. Spock is worried...

Yes, I'm worried. And if you've read my books on raising children, you know I don't worry easily. But our nation's involvement in Vietnam causes me the gravest concern -- particularly now that U.S. bombs have fallen on Hanoi and Haiphong.

Where will it end? Already more than 5000 Americans and countless thousands of Vietnamese -- many of them women and children -- have been killed. As I write this letter, we have 330,000 GI's in that unhappy land. U.S. generals have asked for another 300,000. And yet "victory" in what UN Secretary General U Thant calls "one of the most barbarous wars in history" continues to elude the U.S.

America's power is not in doubt. But in attempting to win the war -- and force a settlement on Saigon's terms -- we may win a graveyard. And the smallest miscalculation could lead to world-wide holocaust.

National SANE is applying all the pressure it can muster in Washington, at the UN, and in the forum of public opinion. SANE works for a cease-fire and peace negotiations which would leave the Vietnamese people free to determine their own future.

SANE has the support of a number of Senators and Congressmen, the distinguished people named at the right, and thousands of Americans in all walks of life. Obviously, it is not enough. SANE needs the help of many more people like you if we are ever to have a peaceful world for ourselves and our children, born and unborn.

I most earnestly urge you to use the post-paid envelope above to send $10 -- more if you can, less if you must -- to help bring about world-wide and controlled disarmament, a stronger United Nations, and an end to war everywhere on earth.

And please, whatever you give, send it now. It will go to work at once on behalf of children in all lands for a world without war.

P.S. As a contributor, you will receive our useful and lively monthly publication, SANE WORLD.

NOT EVERYONE IS AGREED on how world security can be assured.

But there is wide agreement that piling up nuclear arms has actually made the world less secure.

The U.S. and Russia can now destroy each other many times over within a few hours.

And nuclear weapons are beginning to spread to other countries as well.

While we disagree with the Communist nations in many ways,

WE ALSO HAVE COMMON INTERESTS

- In avoiding nuclear war.
- In ending radioactive fallout.
- In reducing money spent on arms which is needed to combat poverty, illiteracy, disease and deprivation both at home and abroad.
- In slowing and then ending the suicidal arms race.

World security can be based on these common interests, but more is required: controlled disarmament, an effective United Nations, greater understanding among nations, world law.

While there is wide agreement on these goals, there is much to do before they are achieved. We cannot determine the actions of other nations; we can only seek to persuade. But we can determine our own actions both as individuals and as a nation.

PEACE IS NOT AUTOMATIC

If you want a safe and secure world for yourself and your children, YOU MUST WORK FOR IT, together with thousands of other people.

WE INVITE YOU TO WORK WITH SANE FOR PEACE

In 1957, SANE was organized and called for the end of nuclear weapons tests.

In 1958, a treaty ending tests became United States policy, and in 1963, a treaty ending tests in the atmosphere, in space and under water was signed.

In 1958, SANE called for general and complete disarmament.

In 1961, the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency was established. World disarmament became the policy of the U.S. government.

In 1960, SANE called for planning to convert our economy to a peace-time emphasis.

In late 1963, President Johnson created a Committee on the Economic Impact of Defense and Disarmament and proposed to cut the defense budget by $1 billion.

In 1961, SANE emphasized the futility of civil defense.

In 1963, civil defense was eliminated or drastically reduced in the state of Oregon and in several major cities.

SANE'S NEXT STEPS have become actual government policy. But the task has just begun.

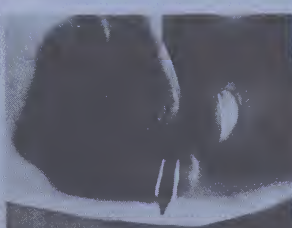

The world will not be safe as long as nations continue to play the old game of power politics under an umbrella of nuclear arms—relying on national might and interfering in the affairs of other nations. War and anarchy as usual are suicidal in the nuclear age.

Your children's teeth contain Strontium-90

All children have in their teeth a substance called strontium-90, a radioactive material that is a by-product of nuclear weapons testing. It is a bone-seeking substance, and it is particularly dangerous to children because it can cause cancer. The only way to protect children from strontium-90 is to stop nuclear weapons testing.

Now it's up to the Senate...and You!

The Senate has the power to ratify or reject any treaty that the President negotiates. It is up to you to let the Senate know what you think about the SANE proposal for a comprehensive test ban treaty. Write or call today to let the Senate know that you support the SANE proposal.

"Between a risk and a certainty a sane man does not hesitate."*

JOHN F. KENNEDY:
DISARMAMENT
AND DETENTE

Including Text of the American University Address

SANE'S POLICY

(A full policy statement is available for 15¢)

■ GENERAL AND COMPLETE DISARMAMENT:

GENERAL to include all types of weapons.
COMPLETE down to police levels.
PHASED in stages of arms control that are fair to each nation.
INSPECTED to deter violations.
UNIVERSAL to include all nations.

■ STRENGTHENED UNITED NATIONS:

PERMANENT PEACE FORCE to discourage aggression.
STRONGER WORLD COURT to arbitrate conflicts and encourage justice.
MASSIVE U.N. ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM using substantial savings from disarmament.

■ BEFORE DISARMAMENT IS ACHIEVED

AN END TO UNDERGROUND NUCLEAR TESTS. A comprehensive test-ban treaty, under appropriate international inspection.
AMERICAN INITIATIVES TO THAW THE COLD WAR. Steps to slow the arms race, such as selective cuts in the military budget and new approaches to political settlements in tension areas. Non-intervention in the affairs of other nations.

PARTIAL ARMS CONTROL MEASURES. Agreements to lessen the risks of unintended nuclear war, to slow the spread of nuclear weapons, and to pull back armed forces in tension areas.

ECONOMIC PLANNING FOR PEACE. Legislation to provide for conversion of the arms industry and full employment.

ECONOMIC AID to underprivileged nations

WHAT SANE DOES

EDUCATES by distributing millions of pieces of literature; by telling the SANE story through advertisements and releases in the press, and through national magazines, radio and television. SANE also publishes a semi-monthly newsletter, SANE WORLD.

MOBILIZES POLITICAL EFFECTIVENESS by maintaining contact with Congressmen and the Executive department, advising citizens on key issues through its Washington office, and stimulating political action in local communities.

WORKS CLOSELY with U.N. officials and U.N. delegations from all countries.

COOPERATES with more than 100 national organizations and provides them with educational materials and speakers.

ESTABLISHES local SANE committees throughout the U.S. SANE has about 150 committees and 25,000 members. Local groups conduct public meetings, provide speakers, write letters, visit policy makers, and support selected political candidates.

IT TAKES MONEY to develop a national movement for peace and disarmament.

SANE MUST RAISE $250,000 this year to carry this program forward.

The national committee needs and welcomes all persons whose support is not qualified by adherence to communist or other totalitarian doctrine.

A NEWSLETTER OF ACTION ON DISARMAMENT AND THE PEACE RACE SEPTEMBER 1962

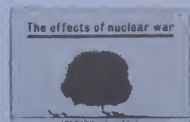

U.S. SHIFTING TO "COUNTERFORCE" POLICY?

Commenting on the Kennedy Administration's military budget, the New York Times today says that the U.S. is "shifting its strategy." When it does, it will be a move away from the "counterforce" policy of the Eisenhower Administration, which was based on the idea of striking at the enemy's military forces, and toward a "countervalue" policy, which would be based on the idea of striking at the enemy's cities and industrial areas.

The Times says that the U.S. is "shifting its strategy" because it believes that the Soviet Union is now capable of launching a nuclear attack on the U.S. and that the U.S. must be prepared to respond in kind. The Times also says that the U.S. is "shifting its strategy" because it believes that the Soviet Union is now capable of launching a nuclear attack on the U.S. and that the U.S. must be prepared to respond in kind.

AN OPEN LETTER TO CHAIRMAN KHRUSHCHEV

Dear Chairman Khrushchev:

The American people are deeply concerned about the danger of nuclear war. We urge you to take steps to reduce the arms race and to promote peace.

Sincerely,
